

OLD PRESCRIPTION FOR WEAK KIDNEYS

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says: "Take for example Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that so many people claim it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmor & Co., Rutherford, N. J., and enclose ten cents; also mention the Norwich Bulletin. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

NO EPIDEMIC OF DIPHTHERIA IN CITY

Only Two Cases Exist and One is at the Hospital.

The report that has been in circulation for the past few days that there is an epidemic of diphtheria in the city is false as was shown by the city health officer, Dr. E. J. Brophy, Tuesday evening.

Dr. Brophy states that at present there are only two cases of diphtheria in the city and these two cases are far apart in two different sections of the city. One of the cases is at the Backus hospital and the other case is on Yantic street.

During the past month there have been only five cases of the disease in the city and two of these have been cured and the quarantine has been removed while the third case proved fatal, owing to the fact that the parent of the child failed to recognize the malady and did not summon medical aid until too late.

The treatment of diphtheria in severe cases is with antitoxin but this antitoxin must be administered before the disease has such a strong hold on the system of the patient that it is not a sure cure. The antitoxin is to destroy the diphtheria poison, but if the disease get such a hold on the patient that the system is overwhelmed with the poison antitoxin is not certain to cure.

It might be well to state that the antitoxin used will be furnished free by the Health officer to the physician where the purchase of the antitoxin would inflict financial hardship on the patient.

Last Friday a case of diphtheria was reported to the Health Officer and he went to the house where the case was to make investigation and found there a neighbor with her three-year-old child who had dropped in for a visit. Upon further inquiry he found that there had been several other callers during the day. The Health Officer ordered the woman to leave the premises, and placed the house under quarantine. The father of the child refused to have the child removed and he was taken to the hospital.

The father of the child was more or less indignant over the fact because another child in the city was allowed to remain in his home. This is explained by the fact that the father was obeying the law of quarantine to the letter and was carrying out his instructions. It must be clearly understood that the safety of the public health is the first consideration and that the father of the child was to be followed to the letter or the patient taken to the hospital and the parent prosecuted.

NEW DRAFT RULES HIT ENLISTMENTS.

More Fact of Registration to Prevent Voluntary Entry Later.

Although it is not generally understood, men who registered last June for the selective draft with a few exceptions will be forbidden voluntary enlistment in the army, navy or marine corps after Dec. 15, the date when the new draft regulations go into effect. Under the present regulations a registered man may voluntarily enlist until his local board calls him for physical examination, but under the new regulations the bare fact that he is registered will preclude voluntary enlistment.

In view of the regulations, recruiting in all branches of the military service is expected to increase during the three weeks until Dec. 15, and military men and government officials are reminding all registered men who still wish to volunteer that they should do so now. Such a delay would mean a special effort to secure volunteers during the short time that this is possible.

NORWICH ROUND TABLE.

Delightful Evening Passed at Home of Mrs. John E. Vaughn.

The members of the Norwich Round Table met on Tuesday evening with Mrs. John E. Vaughn at her home, 62 Williams street. The roll call was answered by naming something the hostess would like to hear about. The paper on medicine and surgery, which was to have been delivered by Dr. C. C. Gildersleeve, was of necessity omitted, as Dr. Gildersleeve was unable to be present. Selected readings by Mrs. Harriet Blackman proved very entertaining and were followed by a quartette from the Base Club, which were excellently rendered with music by Mrs. Harriet Blackman. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Thanksgiving services will be held in Park church on Thursday at 11 o'clock. The offering will be for the starving Armenians.

Planning to Attend Meeting.
The N. L. Co. Pomona grange is planning to attend the meeting of Quinebaug Pomona grange in Plainfield on Saturday.

Municipal elections were held throughout Portugal on Sunday. The general results in Lisbon, Oporto, and the provinces were favorable to the government.

GERMANS HIDE BEHIND WOMEN

James Dunn Tells of Cowardly Acts of Huns on Battle Line
Graphic Description of Allied Victory at Vimy Ridge

The Germans are using the women and children for means of protection in this war, said Sergeant James C. Dunn, of the Royal Canadian Regiment, in a graphic description of the battle front of Europe, given at the Greenville Congregational church on Tuesday evening.

Sergeant Dunn, who was a former Greenville boy and an attendant of the Greenville church, has been "over there" and has also been "over the top" in one of the fiercest battles of the war, that of Vimy Ridge. It was in this battle that Sergeant Dunn was wounded and picked up for dead but he is now very much alive and anxious to get back at the Huns. He tells of some of the atrocities of the Hun and describes them as "foul beasts" and "filthy creatures." In his talk he said that the question often arose, why don't the allied armies make greater use of the machine gun? He said that the Germans are using women and children for protection, that is, bringing the women and children into the front lines where it is impossible for anyone with any heart in them at all to fire on them. Sergeant Dunn told of the time when he was on the top of Vimy Ridge. He got across to the German lines and there he found women and children. He said that he saw them in a plight so pitiful for words, some of them with no hands, others with no tongues. This was a shocking sight.

Preceding Sergeant Dunn's talk, Mrs. L. O. Potter sang the Star Spangled Banner with Miss Letitia Ricketts. During the singing, Ricketts introduced Sergeant Dunn to the large audience, many of whom knew him personally.

Sergeant Dunn spoke as follows:

I enlisted in the Royal Canadian Regiment in Toronto about two years ago and there in Toronto I received some military training. Hundreds of Americans were coming across the borders of Canada to enlist and some of the Canadians were coming into this country to escape the enlistment. I was a Canadian and I was an American heart and soul. For some time, we stayed in Toronto, then one day we received word that we were to go across. Then came the day of embarkation. Over 9,000 troops went aboard the Olympia and we set sail.

Our voyage was uneventful until we reached the English waters, then one day as I was standing on the deck two shots from our guns were fired. I could not see what they were shooting at but the rumor was that we were being shot at by the Huns. We were able to be torpedoed. "We're here," was the spirit of the men on board ship.

We landed at Liverpool and from there we traveled six or eight in a train to a trench where we were trained in trench work. We certainly did get some trench work. It was in the mud, mud, mud, I never saw a better country. It stuck like glue.

Off for France.
From this camp we were sent to South Hampton and from there embarked for France. We arrived on the 10th of May, m. We did not know where we were going, but we were told that we were to go to the front. We were to go to the front, we were to go to the front, we were to go to the front. We were to go to the front, we were to go to the front, we were to go to the front.

We were to go to the front, we were to go to the front, we were to go to the front. We were to go to the front, we were to go to the front, we were to go to the front. We were to go to the front, we were to go to the front, we were to go to the front.

QUARTERLY REPORT OF THE COUNTY AGENT.

Agricultural and Home Economics Committees Organized in Every Town in the County.

According to the quarterly report of County Agent F. C. Warner, announced on Tuesday, farm bureau, agricultural and home economics committees were organized in every town in the county.

The quarterly report is as follows: The most important activity of the county agent during the last quarter was the organizing of farm bureau, agricultural and home economics committees in every town in the county. This was accomplished by holding meetings in all the towns with the exception of East Lyme and Griswold, to which all the farm bureau members and the general public were invited. The East Lyme meeting came in a storm and had to be postponed, while no meeting was arranged in Griswold. These meetings were called by the farm bureau directors in cooperation with the home economics chairman and with few exceptions the directors presided at the meetings. Eighteen were held with an average attendance of 37 1-4. Following the presentation of the agricultural, home economics and boys and girls' programmes of work by Assistant County Agent Whitman, Home Demonstration Agent Miss Campbell and Boys and Girls Club Leader Miss Hallock, respectively, the county agent explained the meaning of farm bureau work, its connection with the county, state and federal governments and its organization both from a local standpoint and on a county wide basis.

Town Directors Selected.
Men all clearly understood the work, the town agricultural director and the town home economics director were selected. These men were chosen to lead in their respective lines of work in the town for the coming year and committees of from three to ten members each were selected to assist in organizing and carrying out the work. These nominations are being presented at the annual meeting for approval and action.

The members of the agricultural and home economics committees are expected to call attention to any line of farm bureau work that should be undertaken by their committees, to recommend the best method of carrying out the work, to give the manager criticism of the work; and generally they should be regarded as the representative of the community on the farm bureau and the representative of the farm bureau in the community.

Boys' and Girls' Club Work.
The past two summers one of the important farm bureau projects has been the boys' and girls' club work, but owing to the rush of emergency work the past summer but very little was done along these lines. Much more might have been done in Norwich and New London along food conservation lines. Miss Campbell had more time to devote to these two cities.

Since the emergency food bill passed by the last congress, provided funds for both these lines of work the county home economics committee has taken advantage of this opportunity and accordingly Miss Bertha Hallock has been secured for this work and will be known as county club leader. Miss Hallock will have duties about the middle of October.

Arranging Corn Show.
Considerable time has been spent in making arrangements for the annual county corn fair. The farm bureau has been fortunate in having accepted their invitation to hold their annual meetings and in connection with this our county corn fair and arrangements have been completed whereby a big three day convention will be held in Norwich, December 28, 29 and 30, 1917 under the auspices of the three organizations.

In addition to the opportunities offered in the corn show and the list, the home economics department of the farm bureau has been assisted in organizing an extension school covering the last two days of the demonstration in the preparing of corn meal dishes will be open to the public. The saving of wheat flour is the duty of every American citizen and all interested in the preparing of dishes with corn meal as a substitute should take advantage of this opportunity.

Assisted Liberty Loan Campaign.
Assistance was given by the county agent to the carrying out of the second Liberty Loan campaign, and the last food pledge card campaign. The assistance of State Food Administrator Robert Scoville was secured in planning the campaign and different committees were assisted in their local work. Assistance is also being given to the state council of defense in its publicity campaign.

Addressed Farmers' Institute.
The county agent addressed a farmers' institute at Gales Ferry on Corn for Grain, assisted the farm loan committee day at the Federal Farm Loan Association, spent one day in cooperation with Extension Agronomist Southwick and Soil Specialist H. W. Wilder of Wallingford, D. C., in planning a farm management demonstration in Salem and assisted Assistant County Agent Whitman in county pig club work, soy bean field tests, and juvenile stock judging work, fully reported in his report. In connection with the pig club through the Connecticut Beekeepers Association and others interested in the work the county agent has secured the promise of enough pigs at a reasonable price so that all the boys and girls in the county wishing to take up this work next spring may have the opportunity to do so and should send in their applications as soon as possible so that definite plans may be made.
